Dear Joe,

A good friend of mine, [redacted] is contemplating leaving the private sector after a full and successful career. He is interested in whether his talents might be useful in some governmental position. He is presently [redacted]

[redacted] and has had a lot of experience in both financing and construction activities.

It has occurred to me that he might be attractive to your health care financing administration or neighborhood health facilities program or perhaps somewhere else in HEW. In all events, I am enclosing a copy of his resume in case he is of interest to you. I would be most grateful if someone in your Department could take the time to interview [redacted] and see if there is some area of mutual benefit and interest.

My apologies for imposing on you but I hope that [redacted] might be someone of interest to you.

Yours,

STANSFIELD TURNER
